THE DEMOCRATIC KEYNOTE

SOUNDED BY U. S. SENATOR PAT HARRISON.

As Temporary Presiding Officer of The Democratic National Convention.

U. S. Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, made a brilliant keynote speech at the opening of the Democratic National Convention on Tuesday. It rings with startling truths, among others the following:

Forty eight years ago, in the City of St. Louis, the hosts of Democracy met in convention to dedicate themselves to purging corruption from the public service. We meet today for a rededication of the same purpose. There was corruption then; there is a saturnalia of corruption now. There were disgraced public officials then, repudiated by their party and under arrest; but today Fall goes unmoored on his ranch on New Mexico; Daugherty sat with Presidential approval in the convention at Cleveland, and Daugherty's attorney was Chairman of the committee created to oil the steam roller of the worst boss-ridden convention of a generation. It was in that convention in 1876 that Democracy turned to that superb and matchless leader, Samuel J. Tilden, to bring the Government back to honesty and carry the party to victory. It is particularly appropriate that I read to you one plank of the Democratic platform of that year, written by that great New Yorker:

"When the annals of this republic show the disgrace and censure of a Vice President; a late Speaker of the House of Representatives marketing his rulings as a presiding officer; three Senators profiting secretly by their votes as lawmakers; five Chairmen of the leading committees of the late House of Representatives exposed in jobbery; a late Secretary of the Treasury forcing balances in the public accounts; a late Attorney General misappropriating public funds; a Secretary of the Navy enriched or enriching friends by percentages levied off the profits of contractors; an Ambassador to England censured in a dishonorable speculation; the President's private secretary barely escaping conviction upon trial for guilty complicity in frauds upon the revenue; a Secretary of War impeached for high crimes and misdemeanors—the demonstration is complete that the first step in reform must be the people's choice of honest men from another party, lest the disease of one political organization infect the body politic and lest by making no change of men or party we get no change of measures and no real reform."

The moral is plain: the country will make its own application. We were not sent here under an Executive order by the candidate to excite the people. We are here by mandate of the people to name the candidate—the next President of the United States.

The corner stone of the Republican Party is special privilege, and today its grip is more firmly tightened and its place more secure than at any time in its long history. It needs no cards to gain admittance to the White House, no passport to the Congressional committee rooms.

Crooked business needs only to gesture or special privilege to wink to make this Administration understand and do.

What is this melon that Mellon sought to cut? It would have given 1,200 of the 3,585,085 income taxpayers in America 51 per cent. of the total reduction.

The champions of the proposal believe that prosperity should come from the crumbs that fall from the tables of the rich; that if you legislate solely to make the well-to-do prosperous their prosperity will seep through upon those below.

Out of the total of 3,585,085 income-tax payers in America 3,580,585 will receive a greater reduction in the Democratic plan than they would have received under the Mellon plan.

The Administration said that the Treasury Department would only stand for a reduction of $390,000,000. The Democratic Party gave them a reduction of $470,000,000.

The Administration said that the tax on candies, checks, notes, automobile parts, amusement places, drafts and soft drinks should remain. The Democratic Party said those taxes must go.

The Republican nominee is reluctantly signing the measure declared for its immediate reform. What does he mean by reform? Does he propose to change the law by transferring the burdens carried by 5,400 whose backs are broad to the three and one-half millions whose backs are bowed? Does he propose to make up the reduction on the 5,400 favored few by resurrecting the many nuisance taxes on the unfavored many?

The country beheld in the passage of the Fordney-McCumber Tariff law the most flagrant repudiation of campaign pledges in all the history of political parties. It was a law that reeked with special favors. Every line in it added to the living costs of the American consumer.

The ship subsidy projected in the Winter of 1922, followed the chilling frosts of that November election, it planned with the aid of an army of lame ducks, repudiated at home and flogged at Washington, "a quick getaway." They sought to lay upon the American taxpayer an additional burden of $850,000,000 to subsidize the Shipping Trust. Your Democratic Representatives in Congress, aided by the patriotic progressives, withstood their mad onslaughts—for three months held them at bay, and through a highly organized filibuster prevented the passage of the measure.

In all of the speeches delivered in the Cleveland convention, or in the platform there adopted, not a word was written nor a whisper uttered of the Administration's ship subsidy proposal. If that proposal had become a law, the immediate appropriations to carry it into effect would have denied any reduction of taxes this year, or in the immediate years to come. The Harding-Coolidge Administration was willing to give millions to the Shipping Trust, but not one cent to the American soldier.

The disarmament conference was held, not because of a Republican Administration, but in spite of the Republican Administration. It was first suggested by a Democrat, and urged by Democrats.

Amid all this deceptive cry of economy, let it be remembered that this Republican Party, during its less than four years of control, has expended $9,592,000,000 more than did the Democratic Administration during the whole five years immediately preceding the war.

The American people have taken the measure of this Administration. The least that the American people expect of their public servants is common honesty. They will forgive their passivity, overlook their indiscretions, and, too often, forget their impotency, but to them corruption is inexcusable; graft is indefensible.

It is the brazen effrontery of this Administration that challenges our attention. They would halt these inquiries by hysterical cries and foreboding predictions. They say, "You are hurting business." "You are destroying confidence." Our answer is, "We are helping business." "We are restoring confidence." "We are saving the Government by performing an operation to preserve the life of the nation itself." Theirs is the Spartan morality. Not the corruption but the discovery constitutes the crime. Instead of applauding the investigators, they make war upon the investigation. Instead of condemning the exposed and praising the exposure, they praise the exposed and condemn the exposure. Decry them as you will, the American people know that it was these investigations—conducted by Democrats, yes, but through Republican committees—that sent Albert Fall to Three Rivers a disgraced man and proved criminal. It was these investigations that revealed such a gross indifference and utter incapacity of the Navy Department and compelled Edwin Denby's retirement from the Cabinet. It was these investigations that unfolded a condition in the Department of Justice that shocked sensibilities and drove Daugherty back to Washington Court House.

It was these investigations that caused conspirators against the Government to take their own lives rather than tell the truth and unmask the criminal secrets against their own criminal allies. It was these investigations that pointed to the immoral orgies of Forbes and sickening scandals in the Veterans' Bureau. It was these investigations that put a Republican Congressman behind bars and lashed Newberry from the Senate. It was these investigations that informed American public that the first official act of Calvin Coolidge was the appointment of a private secretary who had traded and trafficked in public patronage. It was these investigations that led a Republican Senate to convict its own Republican National Committee for "fixing" a Democratic Senator because he dared to do the right.

In this dark drama the American people know and prefer the highly patriotic and cleansing work of Thomas J. Walsh to the foul infamy and thievery of Albert J. Fall.

By every device known to transact camouflages, by every subtle process of legerdemain, the Republican nominee, in true pharisaical fashion, sought to divorce himself from his former comrades in arms. The plan is obvious; the plot is futile. Neither the President nor his Falstaffian army, headed by General Butler and Sergeant Stearns, can conceal the ugly fact that the Cleveland convention was the most highly organized, boss-ridden and oleaginous ever held in America. The American people will not be deceived. They will not permit themselves to be used as pawns in a game of "hide and seek."

As soon as it was organized the Republican Party inaugurated a scheme of investigations that were the most far-reaching and costly in the history of the Government. Fifty-one separate committees were appointed, controlled by 51 separate Republican majorities. They searched every Democratic record; they followed every hint. Like a dragnet, they mobilized every bit of gossip and ran down every rumor. Investigations covered the whole country and extended beyond the seas. What were the results? Where is the tainted dollar spent? Where was the defrauded soldier? Name the Democratic Cabinet Minister disgraced. Those Republican investigations, particularly and relentlessly conducted, did not point to a single act that reflected discredit upon any Democratic official. I call upon the Republican nominee, Calvin Coolidge; I call upon the members of the Republican Cabinet; I call upon every Republican member of Congress—I call upon

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DEATH OF HUBER BUEHLER IN THE MONTH OF WEDDINGS PERSONAL POINTS OF VIEW

NEXT WEEK COMES THE THREE A NATIVE OF GETTYSBURG AND YOUNG PEOPLE OF THE TOWN COMINGS AND GOINGS INTO AND DAY DRIVE FOR MEMBERS. EDUCATED HERE. ARE WEDDED. OUT OF THE TOWN.

The Goal—Better Business—Better Community Conditions and Better Place To Live In For Every One. Distinguished Himself In Educational Miller—Roth Nuptials and Winebrenner—Plowman Nuptials and Social and Other Individual Happenings And Other Local Items Of Interest.

Next week, July 1, 2 and 3, the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce will put on a drive for more members, for the purpose among other things, of having a permanent Secretary who will be on the job six days of every week and fifty-two weeks of every year.

And Why Not? It was decreed at the beginning that man can not live unto himself. He is dependent upon those about him, and this is more true, if possible, of every man or woman in business.

Every man or woman who sells anything, products and results of labor, is in absolute need of those who buy his products. He can not make a living without them. Yet since time and selfishness began, there are those who strut, declaring themselves lords of creation, say they are dependent on no one, owe no one anything and "the public be damned." These need their buying public more than any one else, for fate awaits around the corner to trip the arrogant.

New Chambers of Commerce are simple organizations of those who have things to sell who get together for mutual benefit and to enlarge their fields of service and usefulness. This purpose applies as much to the professional man who is selling his special knowledge and experience of medicine, or law, or theology, or science, as to the storekeeper. Each has his own customers upon whom his living and staying in business depend and the wise know that to enter any organization to better the service is to better his living and home town conditions. It helps to build instead of standing still or going backward.

The better and more thorough the organization the better can be made the market in which he sells. A Chamber of Commerce acting only a few days of a month is necessarily far less efficient part of the community than one working every week day of each month.

Consider what the Gettysburg Chamber of Commerce has helped to accomplish: the many things it has helped to put over, resulting in many more opportunities for the people of the community, opportunities to sell labor, which has added largely to the market here for labor, which in turn has earned more wages, which in turn have been distributed to every business of the town. There isn't a man or woman in business who has not been benefited by what has been done. The benefits will be in larger proportion with a better organization.

We are not a community of pikers. Remember the vote for better streets, over 800 progressives for the improvements and only 28 back numbers against and these surely have been converted by this time. Every visitor exclaims on the wonderful improvements of our town. The message of all is to carry on. There must be no standing still, no backsliding. There is always a way to make this better, to sell more things, to add to the improvement of the community in which you live, and in the end to make your own business and living better.

If there are 500 men and women in Gettysburg who could help themselves and the community by being members of the Chamber of Commerce then these 500 are wanted besides the 110 now in. No red blooded human being wants to be a piker and let "George do the work." He should put his shoulder to the wheel and help. So come in and carry on.

Those working for a bigger and better Chamber of Commerce are:

Havoc of a Cyclone.

A cyclone visited Adams county on Wednesday afternoon and marked a narrow streak of rain across the county from west to east about eight miles long. It first appeared at the farm in Highland township formerly belonging to the late Abraham Hershey and traveled easterly, tearing off part of the roof of barn of T. S. Newman, then leaped at farm of Charles Redding, blowing over more than a dozen trees and leveling his barn to the barn floor. It then leaped to town and tore and broke down trees and drove in western gable of bungalow of Charles C. Culp, on York street, then going down the pike tore the roof from barn of Oyer and Spangler. The barn, silo, and shed at the farm of George E. Spangler were blown into a mass in the barn yard. The whole roof of the silo was carried down in the field, and when the wreck was found, a sparrow's nest was in the wreck and mother bird quietly occupying the nest. Across the pike from the Spangler orchard the third story of the house on farm of John Eckert was wrecked and scattered across the field and a cupboard containing dishes was found in pieces with most of the dishes unbroken. The cyclone did damage at George W. Topper's place, wrecked the barn at John Study farm, damaged orchard of Vincent Redding and did damage to buildings of Charles Cashman and George Griffin, and upset the gasoline service station at Mrs. Miller's.

W. W. W. On Vandalism.

Indignation is at fever heat all through Adams County, and particularly in Buchanan Valley. Last week some vandal tore down and carried away the artistically beautiful sign the State Highway Department erected last fall on the Lincoln Way at Newman's to direct tourists to the White Squaw Memorial. Father Will Mary Jemison statue, has offered a reward of $25.00 for the capture of the miscreant. "It's a good thing," said Father Whalen, "that the White Squaw is bolted at both ankles to her stone pedestal and weighs over 500 pounds, or she'd be kidnapped again by white Indians."

Bonus Blanks Here.

Miss Margaret McMillan, Secretary of the Red Cross Home Service, has received 2000 bonus blanks for World War veterans, and Miss McMillan will be at the Red Cross Office, Court House, every Tuesday and Thursday from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m. and also every Saturday from 3 to 5:30 p. m. Veterans are advised to bring their discharge papers. Finger prints of all applicants go in with the blanks.

New Bank Building Opened.

The Fairfield National Bank gave a public reception Tuesday evening to over 400 persons. Representatives of all the banks in the county were present. The bank is a handsome structure 32x48 feet and was decorated lavishly with pink and white flowers. Refreshments were served. Officers of the Fairfield Bank are: J. E. Zimmerman, president; Calvin P. Bream, vice president; E. B. Swope, secretary; Paul J. Lower, cashier, and James Cunningham, assistant cashier. On the board of directors are J. E. Zimmerman, C. P. Bream, Christian Frey, J. B. Waddle, John Cool and E. F. Strausbaugh. Next day, Wednesday morning, the new bank was opened for business.

Our Only Airplane Burns.

Gettysburg's single airplane has passed out without killing its owner or anyone else. It hit an electric light and power live pole on Monday and took fire from the high tension wires and everything burnable was consumed by the flames. Charles Doersom, owner of plane, and Leslie Goodermuth were in the plane when the crash came, but got to old earth without a scratch.

New Water Co. Superintendent.

H. James Weikert, contractor, who has just finished the new Fairfield National Bank building and who has built several hundred homes in Gettysburg in his career of 33 years as a builder and contractor retires July 1, to become Superintendent of the Gettysburg Water Company, to succeed William D. Gilbert.

ARENDTSVILLE.

The hot weather has come and so have the flies and mosquitoes. Last Saturday afternoon the Base Ball Club of this place took in $70.00 at their playground and at their festival in the evening on the school house ground in this place they took in $100.00.

Mrs. Annie B. Hoffman recently returned to Arendtsville after a two-months' stay with her sister, Mrs. H. H. Boerum, of Melrose Highlands, a suburban town near Boston, Massachusetts. While in Massachusetts Mrs. Hoffman took many motor trips through New England. On her way home she visited another sister, Mrs. Earl E. Miller, in Philadelphia, for a few days.

The strawberries are a nice crop here and the prospects are for a large crop of raspberries, blackberries and peaches, but the apple crop is short. Mr. and Mrs. Thad. Bitson, of Penn Yan, N. Y., were recent visitors among friends here.

Herman Wiernman has gone to New York City, where he has secured employment.

Miss Grace Showers is on the sick list. Some of our early gardeners report having new potatoes to use.

A TALK WITH A GETTYSBURG MAN

Mr. Newman Tells Something Of Interest To Gettysburg Folks.

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Newman, of Franklin Street should be mighty helpful here in Gettysburg. Edward Newman, 26 Franklin St., Gettysburg, says: "My kidneys were in poor shape. For a long time my back was so weak I could hardly lift anything and when I bent over, knife-like pains shot across my kidneys. Mornings I felt sore in my joints and limbs and was all tired out. My kidneys acted too freely. Doan's Pills did away with the back-ache and put my kidneys in the best of shape."

The New OLIVER Plow for the FORDSON

Fordson plowing was a step in the elimination of plowing drudgery. In the new Oliver No. 7-A you will find another important forward move in better plowing, easily accomplished.

You will find the Oliver No. 7-A different—so simple in construction, so easy to operate. It will penetrate in hard soils as in more favorable conditions.

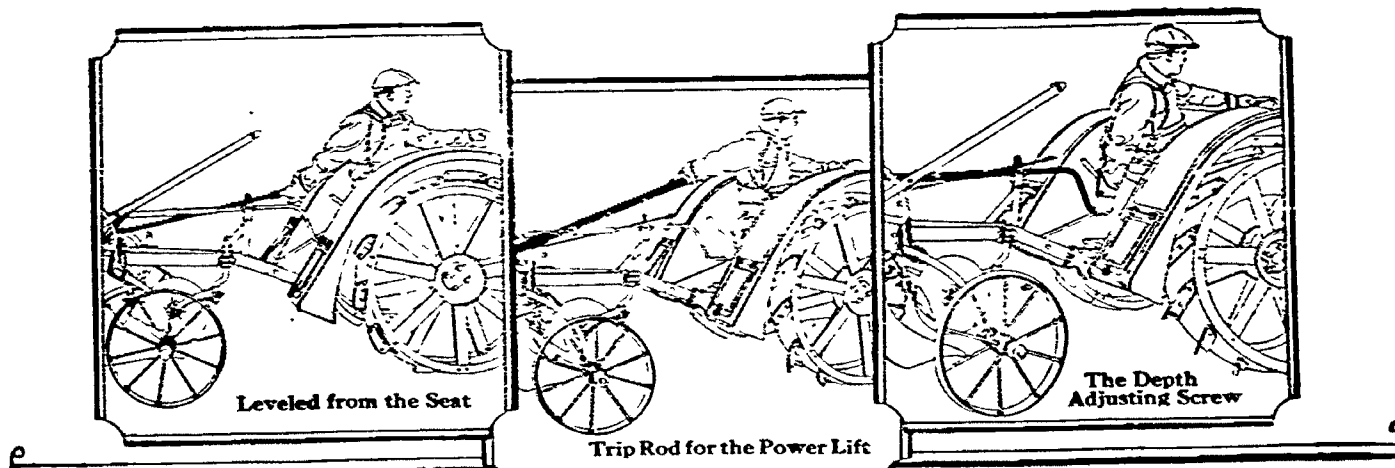

When you see this plow, note the exceptional clearance which permits good plowing in trashy fields. See how a powerful screw sets the depth and allows the bottoms to be raised clear of the ground even with the plow standing still. Grasp the handy controls which permits all adjustments from the tractor seat. There is a power lift, of course.

Wheels, not landsides, carry the weight of the plow, making lightest draft and even depth furrows so desirable for a good seed bed. The hitch can be rigid or flexible as your field requires.

As for the work of the plow itself—we ask you to see it and compare it with your exacting standard of quality plowing.
